These bibles arrived and are gifts for some High School Graduates. Here are my immediate observations: POSITIVES:- Imitation leather feels nice- The font size is PERFECT.- The pages are quality material and not too thin. NEGATIVES:- I didn't see in the description that there was a decorative border on the front cover. Not the end of the world, but would have been nice to know. Maybe I missed that part.- The actual color of the bible is quite a bit duller and deeper brown than the packaging image suggests.- While I know I should have known this given the dimensions that were provided, the bible is a tad bigger than I was imagining. All in all, I am excited to give them to my students. I hope the pictures I have provided will give you an accurate representation of the product. I provided a side by side image with a different Zondervan bible for reference on size and font difference. The one pictured is the Zondervan NIV Thinline Compact Bible.

This is a good new version, the 2011 New International Bible. It is supposed to be large print, but is not as large as my large print copy (I got this for someone else). But it does have a nice leather cover, and the new recipient is very happy with it.

This is, in no way, a large print Bible. With that said, the print is actually the size all Bibles should be! Most text in Bibles are very small. This text is perfect â€” people will not think you have a large print Bible when they see it. But, I will say that the Bibleâ€™s dimensions are bigger than normal: wider and taller than I expected. Not a big deal but itâ€™s not the typical Bible size, which is the only reason I didnâ€™t give it 5 stars. The text is two column. Only small footnotes at the bottom so itâ€™s a very â€œcleanâ€ layout â€” no center-column references, which can be distracting. Words of Christ are not in red. Not a study Bible so there is no application text. Overall, a great Bible for the price. Cover is nice. This Bible is not thick and is somewhat flexible â€” cover is not hard. But these things are not a big deal to me. If dimensions were normal size, this would be 5 stars.

I love the size, weight and layout of this bible. So easy to read and carry to church or bible study groups. There is only one real problem. For what ever reason, the words are not an exact NIV translation. I can't explain it. I thought if you purchased a King James Bible, all the word would be in King James. If you purchased an NIV Bible, I expected all the words to be in the NIV translation. This is NOT the case with this bible. I will not be purchasing another bible from Zondervan again. I do not trust them! They should have clearly stated this was a Modified version of the NIV.

The pages in this Bible are very thin and rip quite easily. The print is a good size and easy to read. I am disappointed in the lack of "extras" normal included in a Bible. There are no maps. I like to look at the map and compare the regions when reading. Also, I like for my Bible to list scriptures by category for easy reference. This Bible doesn't have this option. It does have enough room to write notes and a highlighter doesn't leak through to the back side of the pages. Overall, this Bible is "no frills" Bible.

Large print is not very large. Had to purchase another one with giant print. Otherwise quality seemed pretty good.

This is a very nice Bible for the price. I like the size and the lay-flat design it has a very soft leather cover. I doubt that it is real leather for the price, but looks and feels like it. The print is nicely sized and easy to read. I gave it 4 stars instead of 5 because some print bleeds through from the other side of the page. Some pages are worse than others, but none are unreadable. Overall, it's a nice Bible for the price. I recommend it.

I would recommend this bible. I purchased some "cute" ones for my kids from WalMart and the print on them is so small. I purchased this one and another one like it for my niece and nephew and I wish I had got these ones for my kids as well.
