Adam Hamilton has a unique way of combining historical facts with Biblical truths. The Way, the third in his trilogy on Jesus' life, focuses on the ministry period of His life. The prayers and devotions that go with this period only deepen the meaning of what He was trying to tell us.

Great study of Jesus and the Disciples. We get to go where the events happened and therefore understand more about the background and the character of those involved in the greatest even in human history.

Another of Adam Hamilton's well written and inspirational works. This daily devotional gives very meaningful interpretation of scripture and the words of Jesus to the people He encountered during His earthly journey. Then Hamilton adds a very good segue for today's reader to find a very helpful and useful guide for the world we live in.

My husband and I enjoy reading inspirational material in the mornings when we read the Bible and have our daily prayer time together. We enjoy Adam Hamilton's work; so when we saw this book (a companion to a book about the passion of the Lord), we decided to try it during Lent. Great read. Very inspirational; kept us on course as we lived out our Lenten commitments.

This book is a wonderful companion devotional, used in conjunction with Hamilton's "The Way: Walking in the Footstep's of Jesus." While the books are written for a small group study, they can be read as an individual.

For anyone looking for daily Lenten devotional, Hamilton's meditations of basic Christian teachings and its application in one's daily life, this is a great choice. No need to limit it to Lent, or to those Christians who mark Lent, but the 40 day walk is a lovely way to explore one's faith and practice.

We used this little book as a basis for our Lenten emphasis this year. Every family in the congregation received a copy. We are also watching the DVD that goes with it in our Sunday morning study time.

Adam Hamilton is amazing -- these devotions were just the right length for someone "busy" but determined to set aside time for Lenten reflections. I have never been disappointed in anything he has written.
